PRESIDENT NOTES

My Thanks to all Members who have contributed much to the Shed in the last month, we have made many gains and developed new projects and much fellowship.

Thanks also to Ron and Julie Banks for the Sailing project now completed and sailing!

This Wednesday we host 9 Sheds at our Shed for a district Meeting with Graham Curnow and John Greatrex from the State Committee. Members are welcome to attend please advise Terry.

Thanks to Bruce Casos and staff for their continued support.

The new web site is up and running and has already attracted members and a donation of $236 from TAE Amberley.

We now have a garden at the entry thanks to Kevin and his team and a new sign is ordered for the front gate.

We have approved new mesh gates for the shed and will make it more secure and safe for our equipment.

Dear Terry

On behalf of the Bundamba ANZAC Observance Committee and The Salvation Army Bundamba Corps, I would like to thank your organisation for participating in the Centenary of ANZAC Commemorations this year.

The Anzac tradition—the ideals of courage, endurance and mateship that are still relevant today—was established on 25 April 1915 when the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps landed on the Gallipoli Peninsula.

It was great to see the large number of people including children attend the services to pay their respect to all the men and women who have served our nation in uniform over the past one hundred years. Their diligence has kept the Anzac spirit alive and ensured it is just as relevant to Australia today as it was during the First World War.

Terry, we are very grateful to Ipswich Men's Shed for all they did leading up to and on the actual day. Please pass on our thanks to your members, they did a fantastic job.

Once again, thank you for your willing support and God bless you.

Yours Sincerely

Brad Strong

ANZAC DAY 2015

Members March on ANZAC DAY 2015 and cook breakfast AS WELL!

LAUNCH OF LULUBELLE

My eternal gratitude to Men's Shed Ipswich for the support, encouragement and hard work provided to complete this "labour of love". Well done gentlemen! Ron and Julie Banks.

We have I feel in this venture captured the essence of Men's Shed's , where guys come together side by side , shoulder to Shoulder to the benefit of others and themselves. You have been an inspiration to us all and we will continue to support you through this time of your lives, regards Terry

Ipswich poppies to decorate graves of our fallen in Europe

HUNDREDS of poppies created in a call to arms by Ipswich volunteers for the ANZAC centenary will decorate the graves of our fallen Diggers buried in Europe in the First World War.

A group of seven members of the Bundamba ANZAC Observance Committee are on their way to Europe on a self-funded, three week tour to visit the war graves on behalf of the city.

Meanwhile, Ipswich Library was blown away by the support for its Poppy a Day project.

Setting the ambitious target of 1560 poppies for ANZAC Day, to represent the number of days Australians fought during World War I, volunteers created more than 2500 poppies for the project.

The Ipswich Men's Shed embellished 150 of the poppies, adding small wooden crosses, which the Bundamba contingent will use to decorate the graves of Ipswich soldiers overseas.

Bundamba ANZAC Observance Committee chairman Brad Strong said the group would visit the graves of the fallen, recognised on the Bundamba honour stone, taking them through towns in Belgium and France.

The group will visit various war sites in London, including the new bomber command memorial and the imperial war museum, lead a wreath laying ceremony at Menin Gate, Ieper and Tyne Cot in Belgium, Fromelles, Pozieres, Bullecourt, and the Australian National Monument at Villiers Bretonneau in France and Gallipoli in Turkey.

The group will also visit Changi POW camp and Kranji War Cemetery in Singapore along with Hell Fire Pass, Bridge on the River Kwai and Kanchanaburi War Cemetery in Thailand.

"The idea was that we wanted to find the graves of all the lads on the Bundamba monument that didn't come home," Mr Strong said.

"We're taking a flask of dirt from the memorial park and we're sprinkling a bit on each grave because the reality is, perhaps, no-one has ever visited them in 100 years. They are all located in Belgium and France. At that time parents had no chance of ever going to see them and it's quite possible no-one has ever been to their grave.

"Because we are going there, we are also going to locate as many Ipswich lads as we can and put one of those crosses on each of them."

CBH Group Grants Programme

The CBH Group, Australia's largest co-operative and a leader in the Australian grain industry, is owned and controlled by around 4,200 Western Australian grain growers. Each year, through the CBH Group's Harvest Mass Management Scheme, forfeited grain from overloaded trucks is sold by CBH and the resulting funds are donated to various charities. CBH staff can then nominate the organisations they would like CBH to support.

In 2015 The Australian Men's Shed Association was selected to receive $43,000 for a Grants Programme for Men's Sheds that must be based in the Western Australia grain growing region.

Eligible Men's Sheds can apply for up to $2,500 for items and services such as tools, equipment, improvements to facilities, health, training, promotional and fundraising activities, materials for a community project, subsidies to attend the 2015 6th National Men's Shed

Conference, Newcastle NSW.

The Grant Programme will open on Monday 25 May 2015 and close Friday 19 June 2015. All documentation will be available on the AMSA website www.mensshed.org. For all enquiries email: liz@mensshed.net

AMSA is Moving Office

From Monday 25th- Friday 29 May AMSA staff will be relocating to new office premises at 66 King Street Newcastle NSW 2300.

During this time we expect some services may be affected but we will endeavour to make the transition with the minimum of impact.

The 1300 number will be operational during this time but while IT services are transferred there may be some delay in email response.

Our current telephone and email contacts will not change.

The new location offers more space compared to our current cramped conditions and will also provide the Association with an excellent profile in the Newcastle CBD.

Donatelife

On 5 August 2015 at Brookfield Showground Brisbane, AMSA will be celebrating DonateLife Week with 'The Men's Shed "Donate Life" Expo' –'Have a Heart to Heart about your Spare Parts'- supporting a DonateLife promotion including guest speakers, an organ and tissue donor register, BBQ and a 'Spanner in the Works?' men's health check programme.

The Host Shed for the event is Shed West Kenmore and Men's Sheds from the area will be invited to set up a display under marquee and around the hall to showcase their shed and activities.

All AMSA members have now been sent a DonateLife merchandise pack and we encourage Men's Sheds to make the material available to shed members and their families and to also consider undertaking an activity to promote this important initiative.

We are also requesting that all members contact gary@mensshed.net to register any event that they are planning, if you are seeking assistance, resources or further information. Additional resources are available on the AMSA website www.mensshed.org under the Health tab.

Management Committee - Office Bearers Duties

The President is the Leader of the “Shed” Management and chairs the management committee meetings. The President is required to chair all meetings he attends. If the President cannot attend a meeting for any given reason, The Vice President or another member of the management committee can be nominated as chair.

The President will also.

- Represent the “Shed” and the management committee in all required occasions.
- Be the first point of contact for the “Shed”
- Attend all “Shed” operational days, other functions, fundraisers and or promotional events or arrange for a stand in committee member to be present in his absence.
- Organize and oversee the day to day running of the “Shed”
- Greet and welcome all new and prospective members and any visitors to the “Shed”
- Plan and update and oversee the “Shed Boss” roster.
- Organize and oversee functions, fundraisers, and promotional events to ensure they have the required manning and supplies.
- Prepare and present a presidents report for newsletters and the AGM
- Call regular committee meetings and special general meetings as required.

The Vice President is the assistant to the president and deputizes for him as and when required.

The Secretary is primarily responsible for managing the records of the “Shed”.

The Secretary will also:

- Take and keep minutes of all meetings.
- Keep the register of members and produce membership cards.
- Convene special general meetings and provide appropriate notice to members
- Arrange all meeting venues and prepare agendas
- Coordinate any correspondence or reports to be presented at meetings
- Circulate the minutes of meetings to members of the management committee and/or the general membership as required.
- Complete any actions arising from meetings that require correspondence
- Receive all Shed correspondence and bring urgent matters to the attention of the President or Treasurer if necessary.

The Treasurer is responsible for the financial management of the “Shed”.

The Treasurer will:

- Keep and maintain an asset register for the “Shed”
- Manage the petty cash balance and ensure the petty cash book is kept up-to-date
- Keep all documentation for payments made including receipts, invoices and statements

- Keep and maintain the “Shed’s” deposit and cheque books
- Ensure that all non-petty cash payments are approved or ratified by the management committee and that they are recorded in the minutes
- Keep all financial records.
- Keep either a receipt book of consecutively numbered receipts, or computer system records of them.

Committee men will attend management committee meetings and take part in the discussions and decisions of the “Shed”. Committee men may also from time to time be delegated a task by the committee.

Communication is the key!

To ensure the smooth and efficient running of the “Shed” all management committee members must be contactable by e-mail or phone and must respond to requests promptly.
